

IPAN people

Dr. Selvaraj, BVSc—veterinarian, ABC surgeries

Dr. Selvaraj is an excellent surgeon who has sterilized thousands of dogs while working with IPAN. He is hoping to continue his studies to MSc in veterinary surgery.

Dr. Anna Thorrai, BVSc—veterinarian, farmer extension program

Dr. Anna Thorrai knows how to hold the farmers interest when teaching them e.g. the economical benefits of deworming and vaccination.

Mr. Subban BSc in Mathematics – accountant, farmer extension worker Subban has a large herd of cattle and buffaloes and experience with the local dairy cooperative. He works as IPAN accountant and an extension worker.

Dr. Ilona Otter, DVM—veterinarian, project coordinator

Ilona's main interests are in the working animal welfare, livestock development and stray dog population control. She provides consultancy to other AWO's regarding e.g. animal birth control program.

Nagaraj—driver, dog catcher, veterinary assistant Nagaraj has completed the 'Project Vet Train' - training (Delhi 2009) in humane animal handling and in veterinary assistance in animal birth control program. He also drives IPAN's animal rescue vehicles.

Balraj—veterinary assistant

Balraj participated in IPAN's animal field worker training and when there was a post open for a veterinary assistant he became a full time employed. Besides the AFW training, Balraj has also completed a veterinary assistant course (Project Vet Train by Vets Beyond Borders and Animal Welfare Board of India in Delhi 2009).

IPAN people

Mutti, Suresh,
Potta, Dasha,
Nagmala, Baswaraj—shelter animal care and shelter maintenance

These tribal men are the loyal support of IPAN Animal Shelter.
Their gentle voices greet the animals in the mornings as they come to feed and groom the many four -or three legged friends.

Camilla Robbins—head volunteer, shelter animal care and children's program Camilla's compassion and loving care nurture the resident shelter animals as well as those who are hospitalized there for their injuries.
She is very creative and contributes to the Animal Scouts -theme days with her artist skills.

Last but not least—The next generation...

Emma and Saara Otter - the next generation for animal welfare and nature conservation.